Marienergo reminds residents of the republic about the rules for safe operation of electric generators

The branch of Rosseti Centre and Volga region, PJSC - Marienergo reminds the residents of the Republic of Mari El about the observance of the rules for operation of standby power supply sources. Failure to comply with these rules creates a risk of electric shock to both the owners of generators and power engineers performing work on the external power supply network. It is worth remembering that improper connection of electric generators can lead to a short circuit and, as a result, a fire and a disruption in the work of the electric grid complex of the republic.
