The Ministry of Energy wants to ban industry from building isolated generating plants with a capacity of more than 5 MW

Suppliers of isolated generating plants for power supply to businesses opposed the idea of the Ministry of Energy to prohibit industry from owning power plants over 5 MW. The ministry's initiative will lead to the entry of up to 6 GW of local generation into the wholesale energy market. As a result, business expenses for electricity supply, according to industrial consumers, will increase by RUB 100 billion a year. The Ministry of Energy assures that the load on the energy market will not increase, and the implementation of the initiative will evenly "redistribute" mandatory payments in the price of power between large and small consumers.
