FAS to analyze whether electricity tariffs align with approved indices

Tariffs must not exceed the ceiling levels established by the service. The FAS Russia previously issued an order (No. 1130/25 dated 19 December 2025) setting minimum and maximum limits for residential electricity tariffs. These limits were determined in accordance with all restrictions regarding maximum indices for consumer utility charges. Based on these price caps, regional tariff authorities set specific electricity tariff rates for households in each respective region.
