Implementation of a digital radio communication project continues in the Kalugaenergo branch

Since 2020, the implementation of a digital radio communication project in Distribution Zones has begun in the Kaluga region. This project made it possible to bring the work of emergency recovery crews to a new level. Power engineers have installed 9 digital base stations, which allow operators, in the absence of cellular and other communications, to quickly contact personnel of the crews at any time, receive operational information and manage the process of restoring power supply.
