Optimization of the investment program of Rosseti will not affect the tariffs for electricity transmission, - FAS

The optimization of the investment program of Rosseti will not affect the tariffs for electricity transmission, they are set until July 2024, Maxim Shaskolsky, head of the Federal Antimonopoly Service, told reporters. "It will not affect the rates in any way. We have all tariffs set until July 2024, no changes are planned," he said, TASS reports.

Russian President Vladimir Putin instructed to consider the issue of indexation rates for electricity transmission services in 2025-2027, taking into account the optimization of Rosseti's investment program. The report on the work done must be submitted by 11 October 2023, then annually.
