Corrosion-resistant power line poles installed in seven regions of the country

The Belgorod, Vologda, Lipetsk, Lugansk, Rostov, Ryazan regions and the Republic of Dagestan received corrosion-resistant power line poles manufactured by the Ventall-Don plant for six months. According to Evgenia Pushkarskaya, commercial director for key clients of the Ventall holding, the metal structure poles protected from corrosion by a zinc layer can last up to 80 years. The Rostov site of the enterprise was chosen for the production of energy products due to the presence of its own galvanizing bath.
