Smolenskenergo's student crews unite work, sports and safety

The branch of Rosseti Centre - Smolenskenergo continues to implement the adaptation and development program for members of the "Energet" and "Einstein" student construction crews. This year, the energy company is focusing not only on production performance but also on building a cohesive team of future energy workers through sports, educational excursions and safety training. Particular attention is paid to occupational safety. After training during their first week, culminating in an exam and obtaining the necessary permits, the young power engineers participated in a training session on the "Zero Injuries" concept.
