The Energy Committee of the State Duma proposes to withdraw a number of fuel and energy companies from windfall tax

The Energy Committee of the State Duma proposes to exclude from the list of payers of the introduced windfall tax of previous years organizations operating in the field of transportation of oil and petroleum products, electricity and heat supply, the committee said in a press release.

“A decrease in part of the profits of such companies with the windfall tax introduction will inevitably be combined with the risks of underfunding their investment programs and, as a result, disruption of the deadlines for the implementation of infrastructure projects of national importance. This must be taken into account,” the message says.
